Get More When Selling Your Home

Selling a home is a big project. Here are some tips for making the best deal you can:

- ❖ Choose the right agent. Do research on potential agents. Don't rely solely on referrals from friends, and talk to more than one or two agents before making your choice. Ask about their experience with selling houses like yours, check out their online marketing, and ask for references from previous home sellers.
- ❖ Use social media. Post a video to YouTube featuring your house and neighborhood. Explain what you love about both so potential buyers can visualize themselves enjoying your home and community.
- ❖ Get your neighbors involved. Tell folks in your neighborhood that you're selling. Invite them to your open house and make it a party, not a sales event. The more people who know you're moving, the better your chances of getting competitive bids.
- ❖ Choose the right timing. Spring isn't the only good time to put your house on the market. In warmer climates, fall can be better because the weather is more comfortable. Do some research into when most sales take place.
- ❖ Fix up your house. The better condition your home is in, the more money you'll get for it. Even small repairs—fixing a sticky doorknob or patching nicks and scratches in a wall—can enhance the value of your residence. Spruce up the outside, too, so buyers can imagine themselves living in your home.

Fun Facts For A Festive Fourth

Do you know your U.S. history? Here are some Fourth of July facts to ponder and share:

- ★ Three presidents died on July 4: Thomas Jefferson and John Adams in 1826, and James Monroe, in 1831. Calvin Coolidge was the only president born on July 4, in 1872.
- ★ The Massachusetts General Court was the first state legislature to recognize July 4 as a state celebration, in 1781.
- ★ The first recorded use of the name "Independence Day" occurred in 1791.
- ★ The U.S. Congress established Independence Day as an unpaid holiday for federal employees in 1870. They changed it to a federal paid holiday in 1931.
- ★ The Declaration of Independence was approved in a closed session of the Second Continental Congress on July 2, 1776, but most of the delegates didn't sign it until Aug. 2. Although John Adams expected Americans would celebrate July 2, the date on the publicized copies of the document was July 4, which became the day Americans have commonly observed.

Does Practice Make Perfect?

There's a theory that it takes 10,000 hours of practice in any given subject to develop one's expertise in that area, regardless of familiarity with it.

The theory intrigued Dan McLaughlin, so he decided to put it to the test. In April 2010, at age 30, McLaughlin quit his job and devoted his time to learning how to play golf—a sport for which he had no interest or aptitude.

He practiced for hours each day and soon realized time was just one of many factors that would aid in his development. The quality of the time spent in practice was equally important, as was his strategy for learning the fundamentals of the sport.

This prompted his correspondence with some of the leading researchers in the field of cognitive psychology and neuroscience. Their advice guided him to fine-tune his practice methods. It turns out that the most effective manner of learning requires you to work with material in a certain way and also challenge yourself with it.

After seven years and 6,003 hours of high-quality practice, McLaughlin achieved a handicap of 2.6. According to the United States Golf Association, fewer than 6 percent of golfers have attained this level of mastery in the sport. Not bad, considering that the guys who win the green jackets and tour the pro circuit are part of an exclusive group that accounts for an even smaller percentage of players, albeit ones who have been playing the game a lot longer.

Unfortunately, we will never know if McLaughlin could've developed the skills to be a pro golfer. Beset by back injuries, he abandoned his experiment. Still, the progress he made is encouraging. It is proof that a certain level of success is possible if you commit wholeheartedly to an objective, develop a solid plan, and put in the work.

Lincoln Settles A Problem

Abraham Lincoln ran a legal practice, but he never encouraged litigation that was unnecessary. One day, as Lincoln was working at his practice, a man entered the establishment in an impassioned state. He pleaded with Lincoln to bring suit against a man who was impoverished and in debt.

The man wanted to sue the debtor for $2.50. Lincoln tried to reason with the man, but he was set on getting his revenge. When Lincoln saw that he could not talk the man out of bringing the lawsuit against the debtor, he slyly asked for $10 in legal fees to head up the lawsuit. The man paid the money to Lincoln.

Lincoln then hunted down the debtor and gave him half of the legal fee. The debtor used part of the money to pay off the man who brought the lawsuit against him. In this way, the man who brought the suit was completely satisfied that justice had been done, the debtor got out of debt, and Lincoln probably had a good laugh about it all.

Rules To Startup Success

Do you dream of starting your own company? Many people do, but the road is often hard. On the Fast Company website, Shark Tank's Kevin O'Leary offers this advice for getting your startup up and running:

- ◆ Expect long hours. You can't get up to speed by working 9 to 5. Be prepared to work long and hard. It requires discipline and determination, so don't get started if you're not willing to make the commitment.
- ◆ Be ready to terminate. Firing people is never fun, but sometimes it's necessary if you're going to assemble the right team. Don't waste time if an employee isn't a good fit. The sooner the person is gone, the sooner you'll find a better replacement.
- ◆ Set realistic goals. You've got high ambitions, but you have to be reasonable. You're not going to get rich immediately. Keep your financial goals modest so you don't overextend yourself.
- ◆ Focus on the bottom line. Without sufficient revenue, your organization will go nowhere. Keep an eye on your money and spend it wisely.
- ◆ Don't hang on to bad ideas. If something's not working, ditch it quickly. Like firing a poor performer, dropping unsuccessful projects before they waste too much time and money is sometimes necessary if you want to keep your head above water.

Absolutely Fantastic and Painfully Honest
"Autosys is absolutely fantastic. I have used them for over 15 years & have always been extremely satisfied. The mechanics are very competent & always work efficiently to complete any job quickly. I like that they stay on top of the latest technology & techniques. The front desk is equally knowledgeable & can explain everything clearly. Everyone is professional, courteous, & pleasant to work with. If they do not resolve an issue correctly they will work on it again to make sure everything works properly. I love that they are painfully honest. I am always afraid that a service will need to be extensive & cost a lot of money. They end up telling me that I only need a small service done that costs very little. They have saved me money numerous times. I have had no problems with the service & will definitely continue to use Autosys"

Very Fair Assessment Of My Altima

"Mike and Crew did an amazing job diagnosing my 2003 Altima... unfortunately, it's a blown motor, but the guys at Autosys still were fair with pricing and got to it for me very quickly. I appreciate having someone I can trust!"

Maintaining Present Vehicle May Make Financial Sense

Although you may want to get rid of your present vehicle in favor of a new car, taking better care of your current set of wheels may make much more sense in the long run—helping you achieve a goal of financial freedom.

A new automobile is, for most people, their second biggest investment next to a home, so a great way to save money and increase financial assets is to hang onto their current vehicle rather than buy a new one every few years.

The Car Care Council estimates that more than $60 billion in vehicle maintenance and repair is not performed every year, evidence that there is considerably more that consumers should be doing to protect their automotive investments.

"Whether it's an oil change, replacing brakes or new belts and hoses, that periodic repair bill is a drop in the bucket compared to monthly payments on a new car," said Rich White, executive director of the Car Care Council. "The bottom line is that a properly maintained vehicle is safe, more dependable, more fuel efficient, less polluting and more valuable."
